Bridget Cho focuses on land use and environmental law matters. She provides land use due diligence and entitlement counsel for development projects, helping clients navigate the nuances and intricacies of California's complex state and federal water and environmental laws, including compliance with the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA). She advises public and private clients in administrative proceedings before the State Water Resources Control Board on issues related to water rights.

Bridget maintains an active pro bono practice. Earlier in her legal career, she wrote an amicus brief in support of child abuse victims before the United States Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit.

Prior to joining Coblentz, Bridget was an associate with Allen Matkins and Duane Morris LLP and served as a law clerk with the California Department of Justice. Before law school, Bridget was a Fulbright Scholar in South Korea.

Bridget is a member of the Asian American Bar Association, the Bar Association of San Francisco, and the Bay Area Council.

Bridget earned her J.D. from the University of California College of the Law, San Francisco (Hastings) in 2017, where she was executive symposium editor of the Hastings Business Law Journal. She received her B.A. in English from Smith College in 2012.
