Caitlyn Chacon's practice focuses on white collar matters, antitrust, securities, and commercial litigation. She has conducted and managed all aspects of internal and government investigations for a range of U.S. and foreign companies and individuals confronting criminal and regulatory inquiries, including from the Department of Justice, Securities and Exchange Commission, and the New York Stock Exchange. She also provides corporate counseling and risk assessment in business transactions with a focus on compliance with antitrust laws and the Foreign Corrupt Practices Act.

Caitlyn previously practiced at Simpson Thacher & Bartlett LLP in Washington, D.C. and Palo Alto. She maintains an active pro bono practice on behalf of indigent clients with a focus on housing and domestic violence issues.

Caitlyn earned her J.D. from Stanford Law School in 2013, where she was the Senior Editor of the Stanford Law and Policy Review. She earned her B.A. in American Literature, with a Minor in Political Science, cum laude, from the University of California, Los Angeles in 2009. Caitlyn is admitted to practice law in California and the District of Columbia.
