Lauren Chase is a business attorney who advises companies throughout the corporate lifecycle, from early-stage financings and growth transactions to strategic transactions and exits. She represents emerging growth companies, venture capital firms, and other investors in venture, equity, and debt financings, and counsels boards and management teams on corporate governance, financing strategy, investor matters, and risk allocation. Lauren also represents buyers, sellers, and target companies in mergers and acquisitions and other strategic transactions, giving her a broad perspective on the legal and commercial issues businesses face as they grow and scale.

Lauren also serves as outside general counsel to private company clients, advising on day-to-day corporate and commercial matters, strategic partnerships, and founder and stockholder arrangements. She structures, drafts, and negotiates a wide range of commercial agreements, including co-manufacturing and supply agreements, licensing and distribution agreements, technology and services agreements, marketing and sponsorship arrangements, and celebrity and influencer collaboration agreements.

Lauren earned her J.D. from Stanford Law School in 2015. She received her B.A. in rhetoric, with high honors, from the University of California, Berkeley in 2008, where she was Phi Beta Kappa.
